Council aims for continued growth despite Brexit

THE council has underlined its ongoing commitment to growth, regeneration and economic opportunity for the royal borough and its residents, following the country's decision to leave the European Union (EU).

Voters in Royal Greenwich like most of London bucked the national trend, voting in favour of remain by 55.54 per cent to 44.41 per cent to leave. There were 33,568,184 million votes cast across the United Kingdom in the EU Referendum last Thursday (June 23) producing a 51.9 per cent result in favour of leaving the Union.

Councillor Denise Hyland, leader of the royal borough said: "The council wholeheartedly supported the United Kingdom remaining in the EU, maintaining that membership had a hugely positive impact on the borough, its economy, and the lives of residents.

"However, we respect the result of last week's referendum and the views and decisions of voters, both in Royal Greenwich and across the nation.

"Clearly, we have entered into a period of financial uncertainty and volatility, but Royal Greenwich is 'open for business' - our priority now is working in this new economic situation to build on our excellent record of growing the local economy, creating jobs and ensuring that the royal borough continues to be a place where strong local identity compliments diverse cultures and communities. It is vital that we hear from local business leaders to hear about the impact that they

Final issue of Greenwich Time

Dear Reader,
It is with some sadness that I write this letter marking the last edition of our Greenwich Time newspaper.

Greenwich Time has served the local community for over 30 years, keeping residents and businesses informed about local news and services, council decision-making and what's going on in our richly diverse borough.

A reliable source of local information, the newspaper has delivered regular jobs, training and housing opportunities through every door in the borough so that every one of our residents gets a fair chance to improve their lives.

GT is closing because we need to take account of what publicity the Government will allow and this did not include a free weekly newspaper.

I know that this local newspaper has become reflective of the incredible history and characteristics of our area and its people and will be missed by many across the Royal Borough of Greenwich.

I hope that the enormous legacy left by Greenwich Time will continue online in digital communities and that you, our loyal readers, will keep in touch with us in new ways such as through our website, social media and at our community events around the borough.

I would like to personally thank you for all your support over the years, and for providing such fascinating and moving insights into all the incredible and varied things going on around our borough. Many of you give generously of your time to help others and we have captured and celebrated some of these moments in GT.

I am extremely proud to be the Council Leader of such a vibrant place.

With thanks.

Yours,
Cllr Denise Hyland, Leader of Royal Borough of Greenwich

"We will work to ensure that cleaner environment policies are upheld in the wake of Britain's exit from the EU, and our residents do not lose their rights to equal pay legislation, and non-discrimination policies on age, gender and race.

"We will also continue to enhance our borough's reputation as a world-class destination for tourists from the EU and across the globe and continue to develop our economy to provide a secure platform for local businesses and an attractive place for larger investment and regeneration."

Flagging up our heroes

ROYAL borough representatives raised the flag to mark the start of local events for Armed Forces Week.

The mayor Olu Babatola was joined by fellow councillors, the Queen's representative for Greenwich, the Deputy Lieutenant Dr Pieter van der Merwe, veterans from Royal British Legion branches and officers from Woolwich station. They included Lance Bombardier Jamie Thorneycroft from the King's Troop Royal Horse Artillery who raised the flag and station commander Lieutenant Colonel Bill Bolam.

The event is part of national flag-raising events in the run up to Armed Forces Day on Saturday June 25. On the day, the borough hosted a range of events in recognition of its historic links with the services. The Armed Forces Day celebrations at the Royal Artillery Barracks is the country's biggest event to mark the day and ran alongside the Great Get Together, a showcase of council services and community groups.

The mayor Cllr Olu Babatola said: "We are immensely proud of our strong connection with the armed forces and veteran associations. The borough has a long standing military history and we recognise and honour all who serve and served."

Blue Badge applications now online!

IT'S quicker and easier for disabled people to apply for their Blue Badge thanks to a new online form.

Instead of printing off a paper form and sending it in, applications for a new Blue Badge or renewal can now be made more easily online and completed in just a few simple steps. And the form has been simplified with applicants getting an instant acknowledgement that their form has been received.

It's all part of the transformation of the council's website into a digital hub allowing residents and business to apply for services, report problems and make enquiries without having to wait for a council office to open or make a phone call.

The move to online Blue Badge applications is expected to save up to £100,000 a year helping to keep council tax bills down for local people.

Cllr Maureen O'Mara, cabinet member for customer services said: "I am so pleased that we have rolled out a quicker and easier application process for Blue Badges. It makes sense that residents can now make these applications online at a time that suits them, and it helps the council deliver the Blue Badge service more efficiently."

Cllr David Gardner, cabinet member for health and adult social care added: "This simple online form will really make a big difference for service users applying for a Blue Badge. It's only right that we make these processes as quick and as easy as possible and I'm looking forward to rolling out more time and money saving improvements in the near future."

1,500 new homes for Woolwich

CONSTRUCTION work has started on a multi million pound housing project that will create 1,500 new homes on three council estates in Woolwich.

A ground-breaking event marked the start of building work on the first new homes to be built under a £320 million regeneration programme at the Connaught, Morris Walk and Maryon Road/Grove estates.

During the 12-year project 1,064 homes and more than 500 affordable homes.

The new energy-efficient buildings will be built to the Lifetime Homes Standard, so they can be adapted as residents' needs change.

The development is led by Greenwich Council in partnership with housing developer Lovell and the ASRA Housing Group. Representatives gathered at the former Connaught estate to mark the beginning of building work with a ground-breaking. The first new homes, at the renamed Trinity Walk, are now under construction following the completion of demolition work, which began last October.

The site off Brookhill Road will see 684 new energy-efficient homes renamed Trinity Walk, including 239 affordable properties. The first new affordable homes are due to be completed by Spring next year with the first houses for sale later next year.

The scheme is set to create job and training opportunities for local people including a number of apprenticeships. The first apprentices will start at Trinity Walk site later this summer. Lovell expects to train up to 90 apprentices over the course of the Woolwich regeneration programme.

Cllr Danny Thorpe, cabinet member for regeneration and transport, said: "The Connaught Estate regeneration project is bringing state-of-the-art, energy efficient homes to the borough while also sparking job creation and economic growth. Through a dedicated programme of investment, partnership working and house-building, we are truly changing the face of this borough for our residents."

Lovell regional director Michael O'Farrell said: "This is a huge project bringing major benefits for local people including modern new housing, and open spaces."

Matt Cooney, chief executive of ASRA Housing Group, added: "This project will deliver new affordable housing for the local community, which will help support the local housing needs of the Royal Borough of Greenwich."

Plans for 900 new homes

RESIDENTS are being encouraged to give their views about plans for more than 900 new homes in the Plumstead and West Thamesmead areas.

The proposals have been put forward by the Peabody housing association, which manages homes in Thamesmead. It is inviting local people to public events to find out more about the scheme.

Covering three areas, including the Manor Ground - site of the original Arsenal Football Club - the new homes and amenities are part of Greenwich Council's housing zone programme.

As well as the homes, there will be a mix of buildings for commercial uses and workshop spaces, as well as improvements to existing public spaces and the creation of a new public square.

Peabody chief executive Stephen Howlett said: "We are excited about the potential in Plumstead and our proposals which would deliver top quality new homes, improved public spaces and more amenities for local people."

"Much like South Thamesmead and Abbey Wood station, the arrival of Crossrail at Woolwich Arsenal station from 2018, means we will also have the opportunity to attract new businesses, create new jobs and help drive the local economy."

Cllr Danny Thorpe the council's deputy leader and cabinet member for regeneration and sustainability, said:

"Improving transport links to south east London are helping to make areas like Woolwich Thamesmead and Abbey Wood desirable locations to live in. Regenerating these areas is one of our priorities for providing new housing and we are proud to work in partnership to support this house-building programme."

Public meetings where residents can find out more, and discuss the schemes with Peabody representatives will be held in Thamesmead on Tuesday, June 28 at McDonald's, 3 Pettman Crescent from 5-8pm and on Tuesday, July 5 at Broadwater Village Hall, 1c Goosander Way from 3.30-7.30pm.

The Wide Horizons Environment Centre opens its gates for a free Family Fun Day on Saturday July 25 from 11am to 3.30pm. This nine-acre wildlife site at 77 Bexley Road, is a hidden gem with an abundance of meadows, ponds and woodlands to explore.

Exciting activities for children and adults, include minibeast and bear hunts, pond dipping, eco art and a chance to meet two new piglets! There's a climbing wall and visitors can try the many mini adventures around the site, or just relax and enjoy refreshments in the beautiful centre grounds.

The day heralds the centre's very first Holiday Club during the week of August 8-12 when an Adventure Club is open to children aged between 8 and 12 years old. The action-packed week includes bushcraft, orienteering, wildlife exploration, eco art and animal encounters.

Wide Horizons chief executive, Alex Brooks-Johnson, said: "Wide Horizons has a long history of working with schools in London and this is a fantastic opportunity for local children to experience some adventures during the holidays. We now work with over 40,000 children each year and extending our work into the holidays will mean that children can experience adventures with us all year round."

The making of Woolwich

A PERMANENT exhibition is to be created to mark the 300th anniversary of the Royal Artillery in Woolwich.

Royal Greenwich Heritage Trust will develop the project – entitled Making Woolwich - the Royal Regiment of Artillery in Woolwich, 1716-2016 – with the help of local people and their connections with the regiment and the Royal Arsenal.

The exhibition will be housed at Greenwich Heritage Centre, on the Royal Arsenal in Woolwich, and the trust hopes to open it by the end of this year.

Exhibition project officer Mark Tindle said: "The exhibition will celebrate the history of the regiment and the men and women who have been part of it, over its long history."

The trust wants to hear local people's stories and histories of the Royal Artillery, and is calling for volunteers to help carry out the research and record the many memories and stories they hope to unearth.

The trust will be attending various events over the next few months to tell people about the exhibition and to find out what the public think should be included.

Mr Tindle said: "This exhibition will explore not only the history of the Royal Artillery, showcasing famous individuals, events and technological advances, but it will also show some of the strong connections between regiment and the people and businesses of Woolwich."

"For hundreds of years, the development of the local area was inextricably linked to the regiment, so it will be fascinating to bring those connections out in this exhibition."

The project is supported by Royal Regiment of Artillery, Royal Artillery Museums Ltd, Friends of Firepower Museum and the Royal Artillery Historical Trust.

● To find out more and how you can support it, contact Mark Tindle at Greenwich Heritage Centre, email mark@rght.org.uk or call 020 8854 2452.

4 star rating for council website

THE council's website has achieved the top 4-star rating in the annual Better Connected review of local authority websites.

Rated against 416 other local authorities, the Royal Greenwich website was placed in the top 11 per cent in the country and scored average or better in every task it was assessed on, including accessibility for people with disabilities.

The council has recently introduced new technology to ensure that the website can be easily read on any size of computer, tablet or mobile phone screen. This has paid off with the assessment mentioning the website's mobile-friendliness as a good model for other councils to follow. Reviewers were also particularly impressed with the search engine and how easy it is for residents to report a missed bin collection.

Cllr Maureen O'Mara, cabinet member for customer services said: "It is a priority for the council to make sure that local services are available to everyone at a time when it suits them and we are investing in our website to make sure it meets expectations of a modern council."

"I am very pleased to hear these latest results but we won't stop there. It is important to keep improving all our services online to help local residents and businesses and more changes will be rolled out over the coming year."

New book helps understanding of autism

A PLUMSTEAD mum who campaigns for better understanding about autism has written a new book that she hopes will further her goal. Emma Dalmayne was diagnosed with Asperger syndrome, a form of autism, two years ago and has six children all of whom are on the autistic spectrum.

Earlier this year she published her first book, entitled 'It's An Autism Thing...I'll Help You Understand' which gives an insight into the issues that people like her family face.

The National Autistic Society describes autism as a lifelong developmental disability that affects how a person communicates with, and relates to, other people, and how they make sense of the world around them.

Emma has now written a second book, which she hopes will help teachers and parents to educate children about autism.

Susie Spins is about a little girl who does not speak but communicates with sign language and picture cards.

Emma told Greenwich Time: "It's aimed at schools for teachers to educate pupils on their autistic peers and for parents to help their own children and relatives understand.

"It's also great for non-verbal children to see a positive portrayal of themselves depicted in a book. Susie writes stories to her friends."

Like Emma's first book, Susie Spins is illustrated by her son Raphelle.

It costs £7.99 and is published by Stass Publications – visit www.stasspublications.co.uk

Courses of action after 16

CAREERS IN CARE: John (third from right) and other male nurse colleagues urge students to think about nursing

GCSE exams will soon be over and students who have worked hard to get through them will now need to be thinking about what comes next.

The council works with various organisations to offer a range of options available for post-16 students including college courses, apprenticeships and training schemes. And there is lots of advice to help students choose from the options open to them from September.

You don't have to focus on a 'typical career' - thinking outside the office can help you to find a job that really suits you and that will give you job satisfaction.

John O'Neill, 46, spent a number of years working in management before realising that he wanted a more hands-on caring role. After meeting a Greenwich University representative and going to an open day he returned to full-time study at university and retrained as a nurse.

Talking about being a man in a traditionally female role, he said: "There are more men than ever getting into nursing. It's a tough but rewarding job that gives you the opportunity to give something back every single day. It doesn't matter whether you are male or female, the most important thing is that people do what they are passionate about and follow what interests them."

Cllr Miranda Williams, the borough's cabinet member for children and young people, said: "For students finishing their GCSEs, now is the time to start thinking about your options. The royal borough is working with partners to provide advice information and opportunities to help young people make the best choice for them. No matter your results, there will be training or education opportunities for you and support on hand to help you fulfil your potential."

● Find out more information on the types of post-16 course and training options available at www.royalgreenwich.gov.uk/yourfuture

Sign up for free food business course

A FREE eight-week training course for people in the food business – or those who want to be – is being held over the summer (poster pictured).

Grants are also being offered and once the training has been completed, there will be the opportunity to join the Good Food in Greenwich network.

Eight weekly sessions will be held on Wednesdays starting on July 6, from 10am-1pm – to apply for a place contact Mel Taylor at the GCDA on 020 8269 4880 or email Mel@gcda.org.uk

Cream of the coffee shops

A NEW coffee shop is brewing up something extra special for Woolwich's café society.

Coffee Ethic is a social enterprise which also plays a valuable role supporting people who are overcoming challenging life events with experience and training in Barista skills.

The café works in partnership with the charity Druglink, Bridge Mental Health and the royal borough and Public Health England to help volunteers referred from local service providers. It offers training and employment opportunities and uses ethically and locally sourced goods wherever possible.

Manager Kamel Deramchi said: "We offer a great cup of coffee but we play a valuable role in supporting people who want to make some positive changes in their life."

Cllr Chris Kirby, the council's cabinet member for human resources, co-operatives and social enterprise said: "It's great to see Coffee Ethic opening in Woolwich, it will fulfil a valuable role as a social enterprise in the local area. The café's work is based on ethical and social values and volunteers there will receive really valuable training, which will help them achieve their goals and integrate with the community."

Customer Kingley Ndudim, who runs Kingsway Cosmetics on the same road added: "Since Coffee Ethic opened I have been here a few times - it's a friendly and relaxing atmosphere. The staff and volunteers are really nice too."

Make Gre

THE council is tackling environmental challenges head-on by launching the Greener Greenwich Strategy to ensure a greener and more sustainable borough.

WORKING TOGETHER: residents and the council are leading the way on a range of initiatives and projects to encourage lower emissions and save energy

THE Greener Greenwich Strategy is the royal borough's response to environmental challenges faced on both a local and national level. It outlines how the council intends to respond to climate change and reduce emissions over the coming years.

The council is also seeking residents' feedback on its plans to tackle air pollution, with a consultation coinciding with the launch of the strategy in July.

The strategy outlines how the council is building on its record of creating a greener and more sustainable royal borough by implementing a range of future plans and initiatives.

This involves looking at alternative low carbon energy supplies, making homes more energy efficient, modifying the way we travel, improving our waste systems, enhancing our natural environments, and securing high environmental standards in new developments. A reduction in emissions also brings additional benefits such as improving the wellbeing of local people, tackling fuel poverty, and fostering sustainable and smart growth.

Cllr Danny Thorpe, deputy leader of the council and cabinet member for regeneration and sustainability said: "Complex environmental issues such as climate change and air pollution present a significant and increasing challenge to communities and environments - both in the royal borough and on an international level.

"As a council we are committed to responding to challenges, safeguarding communities and environments across the royal borough, which is why we are launching our Greener Greenwich Strategy.

"We have outlined a range of plans that will help us become a greener and more sustainable borough. I encourage residents to read the strategy and give their feedback when the consultation is launched next month.

Cllr Jackie Smith cabinet member for community safety said: "We know that our residents value the array of parks and green spaces across the royal borough, which is why we are consulting and seeking their views. # Festival fun for all the family

RESIDENTS and visitors have the chance to explore the grounds of historic Eltham Palace for free when the Greenwich World Cultural Festival returns this weekend.

Packed full of dance, theatre, music and circus performances, the programme on Sunday, July 3 looks back to the past as well as to the future.

The festival is part of the summer's Royal Greenwich Festivals programme and is produced by Greenwich Dance in collaboration with English Heritage.

Starting at 12.30pm, events during the afternoon include special adventures based on games, travel and photography as well as the chance to dance through the ages in the palace's Great Hall.

Entry to the festival, hall and grounds is free on the day, with a separate charge for entry to the palace itself.

The Greenwich+Docklands International Festival reaches its spectacular finale this Saturday, July 2 with Ignite! outdoor performances in the Royal Arsenal and General Gordon Square, Woolwich, from 3-9pm followed by The Clash of Drums, a collision of percussion and pyrotechnics at Royal Artillery Barracks starting at 10pm.

Both are free and suitable for all ages.

● Passey Place in Eltham High Street hosts the Eltham Music Festival over three weekends in July, bringing the Greenwich Music Festival to a close.

Saturday afternoon music events with singing and dancing by local and professional performers will be held from 12-4pm on July 9, 16 & 23. The concerts are free and suitable for all ages.

● ParksFest events continue until July 31, making the most of the borough's parks and open spaces. Summer music, family fun days, and song and dance are among the many events - visit parksfest.org for full details.

FORGET about counting the calories next weekend - the Foodies Festival is coming to Blackheath Common with street food from around the world to tempt the tastebuds.

It is the first time the popular festival has been held in the royal borough and it promises a whole host of events alongside the opportunity to try delicious dishes and drinks from July 8-10.

Celebrity chefs and top cooks - including Rosemary Shrager, 2016 MasterChef winner Jane Devonshire and Michelin-starred Adam Simmonds - will be showing off their skills and passing on culinary tips, while there'll be the chance to eat bugs, sip champagne or just relax and listen to live music.

With the 2016 Olympic Games approaching, there is a Brazilian theme in the Street Food Avenue with traditional dishes, cocktails and Brazilian coffees. And there will be other stalls selling international street food from many other countries.

The Artisan Producers Market hosts producers from the local area and around the country, many of them winners of the Great Taste Award.

Afternoon tea will be served in a specially decorated vintage tea room while Burlesque Baker Charlotte White and other top cake makers will be showing off their skills in the Cake, Bake and Tasting Theatre.

Youngsters are not forgotten - they will be able to continue the Olympic theme at the children's cookery school

Final dance for students

HUMAN CREATURES: Final year dance students perform at Laban Theatre this week

FINAL year dance students from Trinity Laban will perform original commissions by developing and established choreographers.

BA3 Commissioned Work will be the last chance to see the dancers before they start their professional careers.

They will perform five new dance pieces, which they have been rehearsing with choreographers such as Debbi Purtil, Martin Nachbar and Theo.

Nachbar considers the dances of animals as he explained: "In my work, dancers transform from human to horse in an exploration of what I call 'somamimetics': imitating the anatomy, sensations and movements of the animals. Embracing the impossibility, the dancers have learned to become another creature."

Performances are at the Laban Theatre, Creekside, Greenwich on Thursday and Friday, June 30 & July 1 at 7.30pm. Tickets cost £6, £4 concessions and can be bought on the Trinity Laban website at www.trinitylaban.ac.uk

A LISTED Victorian pumping station is continuing its programme of open days this weekend when visitors can admire its ornate ironwork and restored engines. Crossness pumping station, often described as a 'cathedral on the marsh', is one of only two Grade I listed industrial buildings in London and dates back to 1865 when it was opened by the Prince of Wales. It was built by Joseph Bazalgette as part of new mains sewerage system for the capital and contains the four original pumping engines. One of them, the Prince Consort, is the largest rotative beam engine in the world, and has been restored to working order by the Crossness Engines Trust. The engine can be seen under full steam on some of the open days – July 24, September 4 and October 9. The next open days without the engine running are on July 3, August 14 and October 23, and guided tours of the pumping station take place on July 15, August 26 and September 23. Crossness is off Bazalgette Way in Abbey Wood and open day opening times are 10.30am-5pm – ticket prices start from £6, £2 for ages 5-16 and under-5s free. ## BIDDING FOR PROPERTIES

People on the Housing register are able to bid for all properties, regardless of their banding. You must be eligible for the size of property and bids will be considered in the following order:

First Band A, followed by Band B1/B2 both in priority date order. Those in Band C will then be considered in registration date order.

Please note that there will still be some properties with age restrictions so only people of this age group can apply for these.

BAND

- A is for applicants in unsatisfactory housing, including people moving due to demolition and those underoccupying their homes.
- B1 or B2 is for applicants the Royal Borough of Greenwich must prioritise according to the law, particularly homeless people, and others with an urgent need to move for medical or welfare reasons.
- C is for all applicants on the housing register, including those that are in priority bands A and B1/B2.

How do I apply?

Get on the list

First, you've got to be on the housing waiting list to join the scheme. If you're not, register an application on line at www.royalgreenwich.gov.uk

Find your applicant number

It will be on the letter you've already had from the Royal Borough of Greenwich about the new scheme. You'll need that number and the reference number of the property you're after, which will be on the advert.

Pick out your ideal property

by looking in Greenwich Time or regularly checking the website:

www.royalgreenwich.gov.uk/homes

Click on your preference on the website. If you don't have a computer, you can always use one for free at either The Eltham or Woolwich Centre or a local library.

Apply in one of three ways

- Text bidding is now available and the number to use is 07786207913. For further information please see page 2, or
- Phone the 24-hour hotline 020 8921 4340. It's an automatic push-button system and calls will be charged at the normal local rate, or
- Via the Royal Borough of Greenwich's website below.

The next edition of GreenwichHomes will be available online Wednesday 6 July 2016 at midday. Closing date for all applications for this issue is midnight on Sunday 3 July 2016.

IMPORTANT NOTICE FOR ROYAL BOROUGH TENANTS WHO ARE MOVING

DON'T GET A BILL AFTER YOU LEAVE

Under the conditions of your tenancy agreement, you have a responsibility to leave your property in an acceptable state of repair. We may visit you to check this. If we consider your property is in an unacceptable condition, you may be prevented from moving or be recharged for work.

To avoid getting an unwelcome bill, follow these rules:

- Repair any damage caused to the property by you, your family or visitors to your home.
- Make good any changes you have made to your property e.g. put back any doors that you have removed.
- Make sure your garden is not overgrown and you have cleared all garden waste.
- Clear all your items from the inside and the outside of the property. This includes any loft space, external cupboards or sheds.
- Return all the keys to the Royal Borough's offices no later than midday on Monday (or Tuesday if it is a Bank Holiday). You will be charged a further week's rent if you do not return your keys on time.

If you leave repairs that are your responsibility, or items that require disposal you will be charged the cost of this work.

Special Collection Service

The Royal Borough offers a Special Collection Service for tenants who are moving and want to dispose of something big and bulky, like a sofa or a fridge, and even unwanted clothes and other textiles.

Simply contact Waste Services on 020 8921 4661 and tell them where you live and what you would like taken away.

Items we will collect include:

Fridges, freezers, washing machines, beds, sofas, clothes and carpets (carpets must be cut up and tied into manageable bundles that one person can carry).

Items we DO NOT collect include:

Fitted kitchens, bathroom suites, boilers, sheds, fences and rubble.

For further information, please contact Waste Services on

- 3 bedroom to a 1 bedroom home
- 3 bedroom parlour/4 bedroom to a 1 or 2 bedroom home
- 5 bedroom to a 3 bedroom (or smaller) home

Royal borough refutes charity allegations

POSTINGS about the Royal Borough of Greenwich have been circulating in social media recently, regarding an event at a local centre with allegations of criminal activity, assault and drug taking.

The Royal Borough of Greenwich always takes extremely seriously any allegation pertaining to the welfare of children and will investigate allegations like these, liaising with other authorities, such as the police, as appropriate.

In this case we have investigated the allegation made regarding the alleged activity at an event run by the Hope Empowered charity on May 14 and made the Metropolitan Police aware of these allegations too.

There have been baseless claims that the Royal Borough of Greenwich directly funds the charity Hope Empowered; this is absolutely not the case.

Quaggy Development Trust

Early Years Practitioners and Early Years Assistants (Greenwich West Children's Centres) part time (22.5- 30hrs hours per week) term time only Salary Scale £15,290 - £21,642 pro rata

Weekend girl

NUMBER 1: Divine celebrates success at the Loughborough International

STARTING Blocks-supported athlete Divine Oladipo was looking forward to another great weekend after successes on the field the weekend before where she won the South of England u20 championships in both the shot put and the discus.

Divine performed well at the England Athletics Under20 Nationals on June 18&19.

On the Saturday she gained a bronze medal in the shot put with a mark of 14.01m - narrowly missing out on second place. She went on to compete at the Loughborough International where she was selected to represent team GB based on her successes so far this year.

On the Sunday Divine had an astonishing day and came away from the championships as the Discus under 20 national champion with a personal best of 48.11m. She has now received an IAAF world junior standard and is pushing for the higher British athletics world junior standard.

Looking forward to achieving world junior qualifying marks at the British championships and Olympic trials last weekend, she said: "I'm so happy to come away not only as the outdoor national champion as a first year under 20 but also with a stellar PB."

Point taken!

FELLOW Starting Blocks athlete Jonathan 'JJ' Webb was rewarded for his recent form when he was selected to represent Great Britain at the Senior European Fencing Championships last week. The New Eltham youth competed in the Men's Sabre Team at the competition in Torun, Poland (June 20-25), which was another step on his way to fulfilling his ambition of reaching the 2020 Olympic Games in Tokyo. JJ has achieved a lot this year, becoming 2016 Senior National Sabre Champion and winning the British National Championships in recent months.

JJ is also backed by Greenwich Starting Blocks, which currently supports 78 athletes and has backed Olympic silver medallist Gemma Gibbons, as well as Commonwealth gold medallists Zoe Smith and Tosin Oke.
